

IMPORTANT NOTICE – RE 2018 SEASON CANCELLATION

B&J Flyfishing

Dear friends and valued clients,

It is with a heavy heart that I have to advise you that our flyfishing camp on the Ekaluk River will be closed for the 2018 season. Due to health issues, we will not be able to operate this year and the very difficult decision has been made to cancel operations as of this date.

I realize how very disappointing this announcement will be to those who have fished with us over the last 18 years, and to those who were looking forward to fishing for arctic char on one of the world's most remote and beautiful rivers.

B&J Flyfishing grew out of a mutual love and respect for the Arctic that Jack and I shared and a dream to be able to provide others the opportunity to glimpse the beauty of this land.

We are truly grateful that we have had the opportunity to share this dream with our friends and clients over the years and deeply regret not being able to open our camp this summer. It is our hope to reassess the situation and make an announcement later this year regarding the 2019 season and beyond. The Ekaluk River will always hold a very special place in our hearts.

All current bookings for the 2018 season will be fully refunded as soon as possible. Please do not hesitate to contact Jack for more information or questions.

Sincerely,
Bill Lyall
